

It is beginning to be observed that the American soil is not the right kind in which to grow the boycott.

The president is in favor of the Morrison-Hawley free trade bill. This will give the north another chance to strike at Mr. Cleveland.

At least accounts there was a good chance that Blair's educational grab bill would be voted down. Its proper place is in the waste basket.

A report says that the senate did a "good day's work" by passing 525 bills. It would have done a better day's work if it had killed 525 bills.

Common sense can do more to settle the labor difficulty than all the legislation at the hands of congress. But common sense doesn't seem to be much respected by the strikers.

"Turn 'em out p. d. q. if you ever again expect to carry Indiana," was the significant message sent Mr. Cleveland from Indiana after the democrats got so overwhelmingly defeated in their local elections in that state.

There are several democrats in Wisconsin who are putting lightning rods up their spinal columns, hoping thereby that gubernatorial or senatorial lightning might strike them. No democrat can carry a rod that will draw that kind of lightning in 1888.

A dispatch from Lancaster says that Mrs. Annie S. Eastman, wife of Dr. George W. Eastman, banker and physician, of Plattville, was adjudged insane and taken to the Madison asylum for treatment yesterday. She is 35 years of age, a leading society lady, wealthy and cultured. The family is one of the best known in Grant county, and much sympathy is expressed for them.

There is considerable honor connected with the past Congressman Willis, of Louisville, took in the reappointment of Mr. Thompson, as postmaster of that city. Mr. Willis is a democrat, but when the democrats began to make disgraceful charges against Mr. Thompson for the purpose of getting the post-office from him, the manly congressman became his friend, and as a personal favor asked the president to reappoint him. She was not the first choice of either Mr. Cleveland or Mr. Willis, but the spoils democrats who have done so much blackening of character under the direction of the postmaster general, want a little too much in this case, and the president decided to give Mr. Thompson, the widow, the appointment. Of course the democratic office seekers of Louisville are threatening Mr. Willis with vengeance. Mr. Willis is certainly to have an efficient postmistress for another four years and that is the main thing in the selection of a person for this kind of a place, after all.

A New York dispatch says that the publication of the second volume of General Grant's Memoirs has been again postponed. The publishers do not expect to get it out before May 10. The book has 100 more pages than the first volume contained. There are nearly double the number of cuts there were in the former, and there are two steel engravings. The one that serves as a frontispiece was taken from a photograph of the author when he was in the field in command of all the armies of the republic. The other is from a photograph of the Moll on a homestead built of brick, with a broad wooden veranda in front. There is also in every volume a fine facsimile of the document setting forth the terms of the surrender. It was written on manifold and the two similes are put on each page as to represent this material as nearly as possible. These are produced by a photographic process. They throw light on one of the prettiest stories of General Badeau, who says in his book that as General Grant was writing he looked up and saw the dash of the sunlight on the sword of Lee's officers and then interpolated the words "saw arms" in the list of things exempted from surrender.

The State Journal makes this reference to state politics: "Grazz, of Fond du Lac, and Goulet, of Oshkosh, have for a quarter of a century hunted in a couple, politically—the only instance on record of an Oshkosh man agreeing with a Fond du Lac man on any subject whatever. Grazz is industriously engaged in working up a boom for Oshkosh, who is extremely desirous of obtaining the democratic nomination for governor. Grazz appears to be laboring under the delusion that Wisconsin is going to go democratic next fall, and he thinks that if he can have his business friend Goulet in the executive chair his own boom for senator will be greatly strengthened. Should Goulet be nominated, he would furnish the money while Grazz would make an exhaustive canvass for the Oshkoshian, at the same time fixing up his own fences and keeping a sharp lookout for the machinations of the postmaster general. Vilas and Jenkins would of course bitterly oppose this northern combination, for Vilas wants to be senator above all things, while Jenkins is lying awake at nights to devise means to capture the gubernatorial chair. The efforts of these opposing northern factions afford much amusement to republican observers, and the particularly pleasing feature of it all is, that they are destined to quarrel and bite each other in vain, for the republicans are sure to carry the state in the next election by an handsome majority as over, and a republican will succeed Philatus Sawyer as United States senator."

STRIKERS' ARGUMENTS.

PROVE SUCCESSFUL IN KEEPING THE LAKE SHORE TIED UP.

Also Have the Effect of Making Matters Uncertain at East St. Louis—The Champion Reaper Boycotted—Great Lockout Threatened—McDowell's Testimony—Cash for the Knights.

Chicago, April 22.—Sheriff Hancock Wednesday afternoon applied to the circuit court and obtained an order for the appointment of additional deputies to aid him in preserving the peace and protecting the property of the Lake Shore company. Armed with this authority, the sheriff appointed 300 deputies, who were sworn into the service of the county. They are mostly "thick-skinned men who have seen service," and know how to obey orders. The plan of operations is to have the sixty-two new switchmen on duty at the freight yard, and engineers ready to take out the trains. If a mob assembles the sheriff and his deputies will command them to disperse, and if they refuse they will read the riot act to them. The statement was made Wednesday night that the deputies would go upon the ground prepared for any emergency, and that every assistance possible would be given the company to move its trains.

The Situation Wednesday. Chicago, April 22.—The strike on the Lake Shore is unchanged. No attempt was made to move trains Wednesday, and the men simply stood around all day long. Notwithstanding this, the condition of affairs is not so gloomy as it appears. The Lake Shore officials have not been idle. They have been engaging men, and it is believed that an attempt will soon be made to resume business. The sheriff, it is understood, has secured a number of deputies and will protect the company in its efforts to move its cars. The governor is still on the ground, and will upon request of the sheriff furnish state troops should conditions warrant such a course.

Sheriff Hancock said Wednesday afternoon that he had sworn in no deputies to preserve the peace at the yards, but he had a list of men, school and non-school, who he would call out if the court so ordered. Governor Oglesby said that no course had been decided upon, and that he would be guided entirely by the course of events. At present he saw no reason for interference, either on his part or the sheriff's. The state troops were, however, subject to the call of the sheriff.

The Lake Shore officials succeeded in securing forty-eight switchmen from Toledo, Elkhart, Detroit and other points, but the strikers say they have been able to persuade them all from doing duty. The last man to yield to their wishes being from White Pigeon. Wednesday morning a freight car was found thrown across the track leading from the rolling mill in South Chicago to the Lake Shore tracks. At noon the railroad company sent orders to Elkhart, Ind., to have the local freight stop at South Chicago and switch all cars loaded with coal enough to run the rolling mill into the yard. When the local arrived the engineer was requested by the strikers to side-track his train which he did. When the dummy reached South Chicago a few Lake Shore officials were given to understand switching the coal cars. The engineers of the local freight ran his engine to where the freight cars were of the track and with aid succeeded in making the truck clear. No sooner had this difficulty been overcome when it was learned that a train of six freight cars had mysteriously been switched across the track near Thirty-third street. It was rumored that one of the strikers had borrowed a Pittsburg & Fort Wayne engine and did the work himself. One of the strikers, when asked how the cars got there said they dropped in. No further attempts were made to move cars.

MORE TROUBLE LOOMING.

Non-Union Switchmen at St. Louis Quitting Work—Ald for the Knights.

St. Louis, April 22.—The various railroads are becoming alarmed in consequence of the new turn of affairs Wednesday and are not sure that at any moment the strike may be deserted by the force which they had so much trouble in getting together. Some of the men who quit work Wednesday gave as a reason that they were afraid to continue as work as long, while others charge that the roads have broken faith with them in reducing wages. The Chicago & Alton switch engineers are still out and their work is being done by the road engineers. In the afternoon the switchmen of the Grand Central yards of the Iron Mountain road yielded to the "arguments" of the strikers and quit work.

The general executive board, Knights of Labor, resolved Wednesday $3.50 in drafts and postal orders for the strikers' fund. One contribution of $2,000 was received from the New York Protective association through General Secretary Turner, accompanied by the information that it would be liquidated every week until the settlement of the strike, if necessary.

THE CHAMPION REAPER WORKS.

Their Extraction of Knights of Labor Calls Down the Boycott.

Columbus, Ohio, April 22.—Some time since the Champion Reaper works of Springfield, Ohio, concluded to discharge all the men working for them who were Knights of Labor, and set about doing the same, by paying every man off as he was found that he was a knight, unless he withdrew from that organization. Many efforts have been made to bring the manager of the works, Mr. W. N. Whitely, to a change of views in this matter, but all have failed. A conspiracy of the State Trade and Labor union by has been for some time investigating the case, and finding the facts as above stated, have issued an appeal to the people in which they express the opinion that ostracism of the works for reasons such as these is against the "letter and spirit of American institutions and a direct insult to the intelligence of the people. * * * The largest personal liberty consistent with good government has been the motto of the American people from the beginning. Therefore the committee appeals to all fair-minded men, all lovers of justice, all friends of free government, and all those who abhor slavery in any and every form, to withhold their patronage from said Champion reaper company until such time as said company recedes from its present position.

McDowell Before the Committee.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 22.—W. O. McDowell, who has taken a prominent part in the negotiations between Powderly and Gould, and who is a prominent Knight of Labor, was examined by the Curtis committee Wednesday. He defended the Knights of Labor organization for the committee, and gave a history of the Gould-Powderly negotiations, which he said fell through. The committee continued nothing new. Mr. Powderly was permitted to go home, the committee to telegraph him if it wishes to see him.

Organizing to Fight Trades Unions. CHICAGO, April 22.—About seventy-five furniture manufacturers of Chicago, employing 4,000 men, met Wednesday and organized to resist demands by workmen. Heavy on the Sugar Trade. BROOKLYN, N. Y., April 22.—It is estimated that 6,000 employees of sugar refiners here will strike. This would cause an immediate loss to the refiners on sugar for shipment of $100,000. The only establishment which will not be affected by the strike is the Fulton refinery.

WHISKY-MAKERS IN COUNCIL.

Western Export Association People Planning for the Pool.

CHICAGO, April 22.—A meeting of the open and closed distilleries of the Western Export association was held here Wednesday. The pool covers seven distilleries employing 4,000 men, and that day the distilleries closed. In order to secure those houses that are closed in the future, a new scheme is on foot, to the effect that the running distilleries will incorporate and that they will close the distilleries in order that in case of a default of payment the latter can have some legal ground on which to proceed to recover the amount due them. In carrying out this scheme the running distilleries would organize a stock company under the name of "The American Purchasing and Leasing company," the charter of the company to be limited expressly to do a business only of purchasing, letting and subleasing grain distilleries.

The damages to roads, bridges, etc., at least $15,000.

Conservation Granted by a Lion.

ISMAHANAP, Ind., April 22.—At 10 o'clock Tuesday in the exposition grounds the lion-keeper, in changing the lions from one cage to another, was taken off his guard, and instead of a lion leaping him down and lunged through the door, followed by all the others in the cage. The animals found themselves loose in the main exposition building. A score of workmen made for the nearest exits. Two men through a window, carrying each and all, another climbed up a post and hung breathless in mid-air from the braces of the upper floor. Finally the keeper lent the brutus into submission, but not until he had received a painful flesh wound in the arm.

Three Captions Soldiers' Orphan Schools.

PITTSBURGH, April 22.—Rev. E. W. Sayers, whom Governor Pattison removed from the inspection of the soldiers' orphan schools, wrote for publication the statement that he never received a cent in any way while in office for anything connected therewith, except his salary. He concludes with the assertion that the governor's statement regarding the schools is overdrawn and untruthful, and asks the public to support judgment until a fair inquiry shall prove false the imputations cast upon the management of the schools.
